Things You Need to Know This Week

August 2, 2024

Member Notice

We are loving this time of year – taking a critical eye to what we do. Seeing if there are things we could be doing differently/better, and planning for a year full of goodness for you all.

Upcoming Events

Jolly Roger Day is Sunday, August 11th, so get yourself a deal, help support a member AND the OC Chamber while doing it – everyone wins!

We are honored to partner with our friends putting on the OC Air Show once again. If you want to be sipping an adult beverage on the beach while enjoying the show, come find our drink tents – we're happy to serve you!

September will sneak up on us before you know it, so like and follow us on Facebook so you get those event reminders.

Alive After 5 networking events kick back up in September. We'll see you at Macky's on Thursday, September 5 from 5-7pm.

We will be partnering once again with OC BikeFest September 11-15 to help with the fun down at the inlet.

If you were on the fence about getting involved, here's an easy way: we are always looking for willing volunteers to help us support these amazing town events that OC Tourism makes possible. Having fun while giving back – I really don't know of an easier way. Our Events Manager Colby is amazing to work with, and you'll be in excellent hands.

And if you haven't noticed, Colby has also been hard at work creating some FUN videos on YouTube and TikTok this summer. Comment, React, Share – that's how the social media game is played, so please help us out if you are on those platforms!
